

Anna Abramova, from Russia/Germany

Date of birth 07.05.2013.

Anna Abramova has a complex congenital heart defect Tetradia Fallo with pulmonary atresia. Parents learnt about the heart defect during my pregnancy and because of unfavorable prognoses of our doctors started to look for opportunities where we could help our daughter. That is why our daughter was born in Germany and has been under observation of German cardiologists since her birth.

Anna needed of treatment in Germany for her defect to enable her to live this year. Children's Hearts Charity supported her case as it was critical that all necessary examinations and treatments should always be done in time, so that the treatment is most effective treatment. And the cost of such treatment is high, such that child's family cannot afford it.

Anna feels well and back home now. She lives and grows, goes to school with pleasure. Although physically she is inferior to her peers, she is persistent and diligent, and will persevere and achieve whatever is in her strength, with the help of teachers. Anna has a strong spirit. She loves creativity. At school children draw a lot, mold clay and knit. Anna likes to read books, a she writes stories about animals. She dreams of becoming a veterinarian.

Now she has started a course of canister therapy, which is a class with a psychologist and dogs. She is absolutely delighted and I am sure that the animals will help her to become even more confident and brave.

To strengthen her ligament and muscular apparatus Anya goes to the swimming pool, and to pronounce sounds better she works with a speech therapist. Anna is growing up, asking serious questions and thinking. Parents are very happy about her successes. She has her own way.

Parents thank and are very grateful to all the charities that help such children! Without charitable support it would be much more difficult to save lives of children with congenital hearts defetcts.

Children's Hearts (UK) thanks all its supporters and, in particular, Audosta Limited, CAF foundation and many individual people and companies supporting Children's Hearts via Justgiving and personal donations, for their support. The Children's Hearts charity remains committed to helping children with congenital heart defects, giving children another chance to live.

THANK YOU
